7 Interns Coming To Fill Void At Lincoln's Hospitals Next Year

Lincoln hospitals will receive a total of seven interns under the national Intern Matching Program, Inc., hospital authorities announced Monday.

Bryan Memorial and Lincoln General sought four interns and will get three, and St. Elizabeth Hospital sought six and will get one, according to the announcement made by each of the institutions.

Under the matching program, hospitals receive the names of interns who will be available, and file preferences. At the same time, students file preferences of hospitals. The matching program has been in existence for three years.

The program is a joint project of the American Hospital Association, American Medical Association, American Protestant Hospital Association, American Medical Colleges, and Catholic Hospital Association.

One Woman

The interns, expected to start July 1 at Bryan Memorial Hospital, are Melvin D. Cook of Broken Bow, Marilyn L. Cowger of Omaha and Charles R. Wolfe of McCook. All are graduates of the University of Nebraska School of Medicine.

Lincoln General's interns are expected to be Luther Pete Johnson, William C. Melcher and Robert G. Osborne II.

Dale D. Marcotte of the College of Medical Evangelists at Los Angeles will intern at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

All internships are contingent upon signing of contracts.

Other Hospital

Other Nebraska hospitals — all in Omaha — to seek interns under the plan were:

Clarkson Hospital, received 10; sought 11.

Creighton University — St. Joseph Hospital, 7; sought 12.

Immanuel Deaconess Hospital, none; sought 5.

Nebraska Methodist Hospital, 10; sought 10.

St. Catherine Hospital, 5; sought 8.

University of Nebraska College of Medicine Hospital, 6; sought 12.

Bryan, Lincoln General and St. Elizabeth Hospitals have operated without interns for the past year. Both Bryan Memorial and Lincoln General have had externs from the University of Nebraska and St. Elizabeth has had externs from Creighton University.

An extern is not a graduate of a medical college, but a senior student who works in the hospital. Both Lincoln General and St. Elizabeth also have had students working in the hospital under residency programs.

Programs Ok'd

Bryan Memorial and Lincoln General Hospitals also announced Monday that they have received continued approval of their intern training programs. The programs are reviewed every two years by a committee of the American Medical Association.

The reviews were held in February, and the hospitals have been under temporary approval until the formal notifications.

Hospital officials said the AMA council on medical education and hospitals concurred in the approval recommendations of the internships review committee.

St. Elizabeth operates under a different reviewing system and has not been reviewed in the past few months, an official said.

-New Hampshire- 1st '56 Voting Today

Estes Will Match His Strength With Adlai

MANCHESTER, N. H. (AP) — Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) matches his personal popularity against the vote-driving power of most of New Hampshire's leading Democrats Tuesday in the nation's first presidential primary of this campaign year.

The state's big Democratic political guns are lined up almost solidly for Kefauver's principal opponent, Adlai Stevenson. But the party's 1952 standard bearer has carefully avoided a head-on clash by refusing to take any personal part in the contest.

Although the test of strength between the two leading rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination will thus be indirect, the result is almost certain to have an important psychological impact on pre-convention opinion.

Just as Kefauver is unopposed in the Democratic preference section of the ballot, President Eisenhower is unopposed on the Republican side, where he defeated Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) four years ago.

Direct Choice

The preference poll gives voters an opportunity to express a direct choice for their party's nomination. Its results, however, are not binding on the convention delegates.

Eisenhower is expected to win handily all 14 delegates to the GOP national convention, despite some sentiment for Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.).

Adding some interest to the otherwise dull Republican contest was a report that many GOP voters, stirred by growing speculation about Eisenhower's running mate, will write in an endorsement of Vice

4 Votes Split

MILLSFIELD, N.H. (Tuesday) (AP)—In a surprise midnight primary election by oil lamp-light, this tiny town split its four votes evenly between President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson early today.

The two Democratic voters wrote in the names of Stevenson for president and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York for vice president.

Only Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) is listed on Democratic ballots for the presidential preference primary in New Hampshire.

President Nixon or others in the vice presidential preference poll. No vice presidential aspirants are entered on either ballot.

Kefauver, who upset President Truman in the New Hampshire primary four years ago, obviously has much more at stake Tuesday than Stevenson. Unless the tall Tennesseean posts another convincing victory, his prestige will suffer.

End of Bid

And his campaign lieutenants frankly concede that a defeat for Kefauver could well spell the end of his second bid for the Democratic nomination.

Stevenson's strategists have already made it plain that if he loses, they will point to the fact that this state is generally regarded as Kefauver territory. They will remind one and all that Stevenson didn't challenge Kefauver in the preference poll section of the ballot.

4 Boys, 15 And 16, Siphon Truck Gas

Four Lincoln youths were picked up by police Monday night for the theft of some 40 gallons of gas from parked trucks.

The boys—two aged 15 and two 16—took the gas in the vicinity of 56th and Pioneer. Two of them siphoned gas from vehicles near a drive-in theater at 49th and Vine.

The four were released and told to report to Assistant Police Chief Eugene Masters Tuesday morning.

Pershing School Parents Win; Avoid Class Switch

Protest Session Earns Board Nod To Keep 5th, 6th Grades

By SUE HOLBERT
Star Staff Writer

A tentative decision to continue holding fifth and sixth grade classes at Pershing School through the next school year was reached at a meeting of parents and Board of Education members Monday evening at Northeast High School.

About 300 persons attended the meeting, organized by parents. They were protesting the possibility of eliminating fifth and sixth grade classes at the new Pershing school at 6402 Judson and sending those youngsters to Huntington, Havelock or Bethany Schools.

Presently 66 children attending Pershing School would be affected by the move. Mrs. Alvin B. Hoerlein, president of the Mothers Club of Pershing School and the Northeast child center, which includes kindergarten, first and second grades, presented the case for the parents.

Mrs. Hoerlein made these points against causing fifth and sixth graders in the Pershing School District to attend one of the other schools:

Already Crowded

1. Huntington is already crowded—the cafeteria is filled several times, some children would have to eat in a different building than the one in which they have classes, and restrooms facilities are inadequate.

2. Taxpayers in the Pershing district supported the bond issue for Pershing School and expected to send their children through the sixth grade there. This support included an increase in taxes, she said.

3. Some children would have to attend three schools before reaching junior high—a child center, Pershing through the fourth grade and another school for fifth and sixth grades.

4. Some children would have to walk as far as 14 blocks to school, passing Pershing School on the way.

Program Unhurt

Supt. of Schools Steven N. Watkins, answering the parents point for point, said school rooms at the other schools, although not as desirable as the new ones at Pershing, would not hamper the education program.

He said the Havelock, Huntington and Bethany classrooms not in use at present are larger than ones now being used at Clinton, Elliot and Prescott Schools.

Dr. Watkins asked the parents to give the School Board time to survey the problem. He said population movements in and out of school districts are unpredictable, and that careful planning must go into the school program.

"We have to use existing facilities," he said.

-Turner Speaker- NFO To Meet Friday

Francke Acting Head Here

Dan Turner, former governor of Iowa, will speak Friday night at the College of Agriculture at an organization meeting of the National Farm Organization.

The meeting to organize the NFO in Lancaster County will be held in the Agronomy building beginning at 8 p.m. It is open to the public.

Turner, who recently returned from a conference with President Eisenhower and presidential adviser, Sherman Adams, is now an adviser of NFO. He is from Corn, Ia., the town where NFO organized last year.

Chosen temporary Lancaster County chairman is Albert Francke of Walton. At the meeting the county will be organized by precincts, then at a later date the officers will meet to form a permanent county unit.

Organizing the meeting is Fay H. Moore of Nemaha, state organizer for the group. He will be assisted by Jeff Broady of Nemaha.

Other speakers on the program include Merle Stalder of Salem and Dick Holmbeck of Barneston, both farmers.

The goal of NFO, Moore said, is to obtain 90 to 95 per cent of the nation's farmers in one farm organization.

He continued that organizational machinery is already in operation in at least 22 state counties. The NFO is active now in Nemaha, Richardson, Pawnee, Gage and Dakota Counties.

Organization is in progress in Otoe, Cass, Sarpy, Lancaster, Jefferson, Saline, Seward, Burt, Cuming, Thurston, Dixon, Cedar, Knox, Wayne, Stanton, Pierce and Madison Counties, Moore said.

The NFO, the organizer said, claims some 100,000 members and favors rigid price supports. Moore added that the organization has found that only one out of 40 farmers favor flexible supports for farm products.

(The twenty-fourth chapter of The Star's Lenten series.)

By APRIL OURSLER ARMSTRONG

Jesus and his disciples had gone away. In Peter's boat they sailed across Galilee to a deserted part of the shore, hoping to find silence for prayer. But some in the crowd forgot He needed rest. They knew only that they needed Him.

A little boy darted home. His mother was pulling loaves of new-baked bread from the oven.

"Can I go too, Mother? Huh?"

"Well, Seth, you are a big boy. Eleven, now. Yes, you may go. But you must take food."

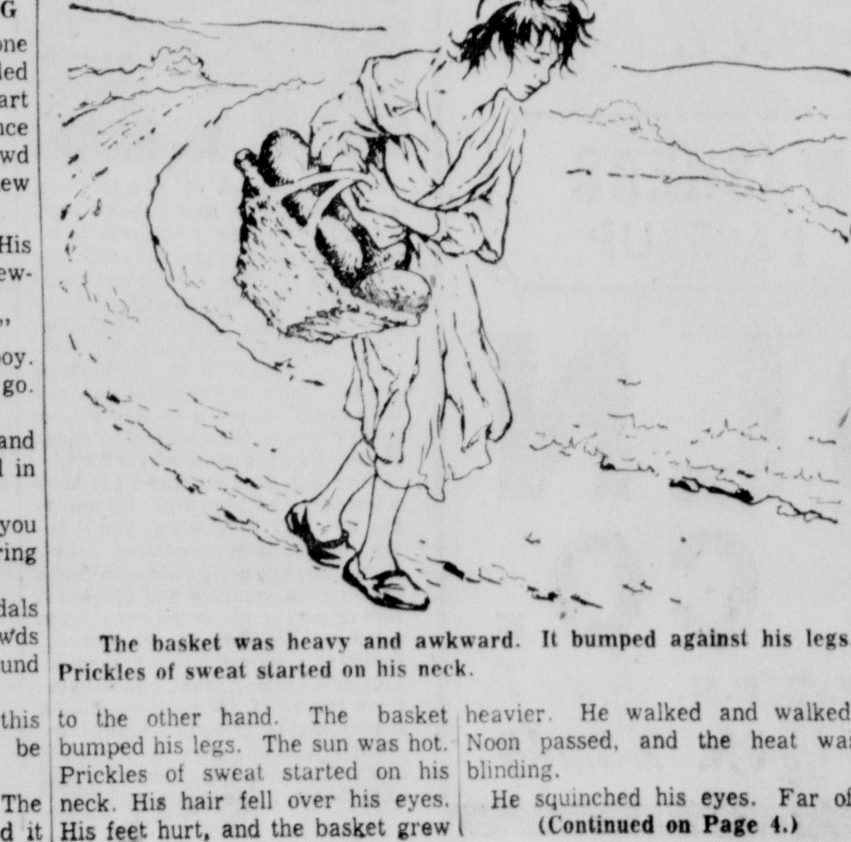

His mother wrapped two fish and five loaves of new barley bread in the basket.

"You will take more than you need, Seth, to share if others bring none," She kissed him.

Seth ran as fast as his sandals could carry him. But the crowds were almost out of sight around the lake.

"If I hadn't had to wait for this basket," grumbled Seth, "I'd be with them now."

He hurried over the sand. The basket was heavy. He switched it

U.S. Asks Surplus Rice Sale

Burma, Pakistan Would Get Aid

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U.S. Monday offered to buy a million dollars worth of surplus rice from Burma to help meet a food shortage in east Pakistan.

It was the first U.S. offer to buy rice from Burma where the surplus has become a vital economic problem.

Communist China has an agreement to buy rice from neutral Burma.

Under the plan announced Monday, by the International Co-operation Administration, the Burmese would use the million dollars earned from the sale of rice to hire U.S. technicians for economic development projects.

The U.S. will get about 10,000 tons of rice through the agreement. The U.S. already has shipped 165,000 tons of rice to east Pakistan from the American surplus.

Two hours after former President Harry S. Truman had announced his only child's engagement, Margaret and her fiancé met the press here in a public room of the Hotel Carlyle, where she lives.

It will be another April wedding. The forthcoming wedding of Prince Ranier and Grace Kelly in Monaco was not mentioned, but it was apparently in the minds of both the principals and the press.

Miss Truman, 32, said decisively that hers will be "a small, quiet wedding with the two families" at Trinity Episcopal Church in Independence, Mo. The wedding date "has not yet been fixed. There will be no 'big, white, formal bridal gown' either, Miss Truman continued, because "I never have liked that kind of thing."

As for bridesmaids, that's dubious, too, "because most of my friends are married women. If there are any, they'll be matrons."

Daniel, 43, an assistant to the foreign news editor of the New York Times and a European correspondent since 1940, sat beside Miss Truman, answering a few questions. Son of a Zebulon, N.C. druggist, Daniel is a slender handsome, brown-eyed man of middle height with greying hair. He never was married before.

Margaret, smiling and excited, frequently conferred with and referred questions to Daniel. Together, sometimes with reluctance, they patched together the story of their romance which started in early November when they met at the home of George Backer, former New York Post publisher.

Daniel proposed late in January and he met his prospective father-in-law for the first time when the former President came to New York last month to speak at a Democratic dinner.

F. D. Burke Dies; Long A Lincolnite

F. D. Burke of 3525 Garfield died after apparently suffering a heart attack early Tuesday morning.

He was taken to a local hospital by ambulance, and was pronounced dead on arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Burke celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary March 6. They began their married life in a sod house near Arapahoe, where their first two children were born.

In 1900 they moved to Frontier County and operated a ranch until 1912, when they moved to Craig.

They had lived in Lincoln since 1920, where Mr. Burke was in the real estate business until his retirement.

Besides Mrs. Burke, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ray Lewton of Waltham and Mrs. James H. Schneider of Lincoln; a son, A. L. Burke of Lincoln; and two grandchildren.

1-Farm Ceiling Okayed $100,000 Top Gets 78 To 11 Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate amended its election-year farm bill Monday night to put a $100,000 limit on the annual price support loans the government could make to any individual farm or farmer.

The vote was 78-11.

There is no limit on price support loans in the present law, and these have exceeded one million dollars to single units in recent years. Proponents of the amendment said it was aimed at huge corporation-type wheat, cotton and corn farms, some of which they said have been collecting immense government checks.

The government price support programs through loans. The farmer puts up his crop as collateral; and if the market price is lower than the support price on which the loan is based, he ordinarily lets the government take over the commodity.

Boosted To $100,000

Sen. Williams (R-Id.) was the sponsor of the amendment. He originally wanted a ceiling of $25,000, but it was raised to $100,000 at the urging of Sen. Russell (D-Ga.).

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), a backer of the amendment, said there had been cotton loans in recent years as high as $1,269,000, wheat loans up to $354,000, and corn loans up to $190,000.

President Eisenhower had suggested in his farm message to Congress this year that it consider some kind of limitation on price support loans, but did not suggest a specific figure.

After adopting this amendment the Senate recessed until Tuesday.

Earlier the Senate refused to approve price supports at 90 per cent of parity for small farmers. It also rejected a $50,000 limit on price support loans.

Rejected 56 to 36

Both proposals were contained in an amendment by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) which was defeated 56-36 on a rollcall vote. Thirty-two Democrats and four Republicans supported the amendment, while 41 Republicans and 15 Democrats opposed it.

Another amendment, offered by Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) to limit payments under the proposed new soil bank to $25,000 in any one year for any farm in one state, was approved 84-9.

But Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), senior GOP member of the Agriculture Committee, said the Jenner amendment would mean little because even with payments of $50 an acre a farmer would have to take more than 500 acres out of cultivation before he reached the ceiling.

The soil bank program, which still has to be voted on by the Senate, would offer more than one billion dollars a year in benefit payments to farmers who cut down on the production of crops now in surplus. They would be encouraged to grow grass and trees on the land taken out of cultivation, but it could not be used for grazing.

Accident Victim In Poor Condition

Leo Schwenk of 109 D, a 49-year-old employee of the State Department of Roads and Irrigation, suffered a deep scalp laceration across his head and other lacerations on the chin in a two-car collision at 9th and D Monday night.

He was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where he underwent surgery. He was reported in poor condition by his attending physician, who said he suffered the loss of a large amount of blood.

Lincoln police said Schwenke was apparently driving alone going west on D at the time. His car collided with another traveling south on 9th Street driven by Frank James, 22, of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Both cars were badly damaged.

Fireworks In Senate Touched Off By Dixie Manifesto

RACIAL DEBATE BITTER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The racial integration issue set off an oratorical North-South conflict in Congress Monday, with the submission of the new Southern manifesto.

Most of the fireworks was in the Senate; the House met only briefly.

The debate began when Sen. George (D-Ga.) formally presented the manifesto signed by 19 senators and 81 House members from 11 states.

It says the Supreme Court decision of 1954 outlawing segregation in public schools was "a clear abuse of judicial power" and pledges the signers to do everything legally possible to overthrow it.

Amendment Suggested
Sen. Morse (D-Ore.) dared the Southerners to submit a constitutional amendment allowing race segregation practices, and predicted there would be few votes for it.

Morse also declared:
"A historic debate is going to have to take place in the not too distant future because this Congress is going to have to determine whether it is going to back up the Supreme Court."

Morse said some forces were trying to put themselves "above the Supreme Court of the United States and the Constitution."

Sen. Thurmond (D-Sc.), who led the states rights movement in 1948, told the Senate the South will "fight to the end" to reverse the court ruling.

Stop Sign Request By Holy Family Waits Use Study

A count of children crossing Sheridan Blvd. at 37th has been requested by the City Council before it decides upon a request of Holy Family School for installation of an automatic school stop sign at the intersection.

The Traffic Commission has recommended the use of portable signs, to be put in use when needed.

Speaking in favor of the automatic sign, Attorney John Dean stated that if "the cost of the automatic signs is too burdensome, then the proposed $12 million bond issue is certainly too burdensome."

Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge reported that the automatic signs are used only at intersections three or four blocks from the school where the portable signs would not be practical. No school, he said, has an automatic sign adjacent to it.

Ford Testifies

Henry Ford II tells senators in Washington that his assistant, as a private individual, sought contributions from Ford dealers in 1952 for President Eisenhower's election campaign. But he insisted, in testimony before a Senate Commerce Subcommittee that no pressure was put on dealers, no company funds were used and no other company personnel were involved. (AP Wire-photo.)

Council Approves $31,000 Estimate To Relocate 14th

A $31,000 estimate has been approved by the City Council for reconstruction of the paving on 14th from U to Vine.

The project is to permit the University of Nebraska to erect a new pharmacy building at the southeast corner of 14th and Vine. The University will pay all paving costs while the city assumes an estimated $1,800 expense in engineering and relocating of street lights.

The work will also straighten out the jog in 14th at Vine. The pharmacy building will extend out in to what is now 14th.

Also approved by the Council was a $55,000 estimate for construction of an outlet for the Havelock storm sewer. The open ditch outlet will run from the intersection of U. Highway 6 and Adams to Salt Creek.

The outlet is part of an overall Havelock sewer program to cost the city a total of $300,000. The Burlington Railroad is also building a sewer through its shop grounds at an estimated cost of $125,000.

Ford GOP Fund 'Heat' Is Denied

... By Henry II

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Ford II acknowledged at a Senate inquiry Monday that he okayed the solicitation of Ford dealers for Eisenhower campaign funds in 1952.

But he said "I don't like pressure of any kind on any matter," and that as far as he knew there were no "reprisals or recriminations" against dealers who refused to contribute.

Ford testified he approved plans of his personal assistant, Allen W. Merrell, to ask "strong Eisenhower supporters" among Ford dealers to solicit GOP political contributions from other Ford dealers.

No Heat, Says Ford

In a statement drawn up for his appearance before a Senate Commerce subcommittee, Ford added that no heat was put on the dealers, no company funds were used in the solicitation and no other company personnel were involved.

The head of the Ford Motor Co. described himself as a strong Eisenhower supporter and told the senators he plans to raise funds for the republican campaign again this year.

Chairman Monroney (D-Okla.) commented that it could be construed as "indirect coercion" to solicit money in such a matter in 1952, a Korean War year, when dealers were dependent on a share of the short supply of cars for their livelihood.

Parking On Curbs Sought By Ordinance

Parking in the area between curbs and sidewalks will only be permitted where posted under terms of an ordinance introduced for first reading to the City Council.

Currently, such parking is permitted in some areas but not posted. This makes enforcement difficult since officers can not tell in which areas parking is permitted and where it is prohibited.

In addition, the posted sign will stipulate that the area is for parking by the general public.

The owner of the property adjoining such sidewalk areas must apply for a permit to use the area for parking before it can be posted.

A $10 permit fee has been tentatively set but may be raised before final passage of the ordinance.

Permits will not be granted unless the area has been hard surfaced and then will call for public use of the area.

Other ordinances introduced on first reading:

Paving of 11th, Adams to Benton and Fairfield, 9th to Lewis.

Water district in Holdrege, 50th to 51st and 50th, Holdrege to Astorworth.

Water district in Y, 60th to 70th, Orchard, 60th to 70th, Y to Starr, rules suspended and ordinance given first and second readings.

Curtis Thinks Ike To Be Entered In State Primary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Will President Eisenhower's name appear on the Nebraska presidential primary ballot?

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb.) said he supposed the President's name would be.

Curtis said he favored it and that there was no opposition to it in the state.

Sen. Hruska (R-Neb.) and Nebraska members of the House said they had heard no discussion of the matter.

In Lincoln, State Republican Party Treasurer Joseph Wishart said he knows of no one in the state GOP organization who plans to circulate Eisenhower petitions or who even wants such a ballot listing.

The thing would mean an added expense to the state party and an expense to taxpayers from the additional vote counting effort involved, Wishart said.

With Eisenhower competition virtually non-existent, there probably would be lack of interest and many might vote without even marking the presidential preference ballot, he added.

"How would it look if we put his name on the ballot and only 20 per cent of the voters marked it?" he asked.

Plan Set By Arabs At Parley

... Meeting Ends

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — The Arab world's Big Three wound up their summit conference here Monday with a declaration that they have hammered out a unified plan against "dangers of Zionist aggression" and to preserve neutrality in the cold war.

Premier Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt, King Saud of Saudi Arabia, and President Shukri Kuwatly of Syria signed a four-page communique which summed up the results of their 10 secret meetings here in the last six days. It contained no hint of what details they had agreed on.

The signing took place in a room packed with newsmen and photographers as Israel and the Arabs exchanged charges that troop concentrations were being built up on each side of the border. Fresh shooting incidents took place.

Arab League Out?

A hint was seen that the three Arab chiefs had decided virtually to scrap the Arab League and to act independently of that 9-nation body in the future.

The communique said they had an all-inclusive plan for co-ordinating their policies in political, military, economic and cultural matters to achieve "mobilization of all forces and their direction toward the realization of the general good of the Arab Nation."

The unity of the Arab League has been shattered by Iraq's joining the Baghdad Pact with Britain, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan, an alliance concerned primarily with defense against the Communists.

Meanwhile, an Israeli spokesman charged that Jordanians fired on Israeli customs officials near Barta in western Judea Monday, but injured no one.

The Egyptians reported that an Israeli outpost opened fire on an Egyptian post near Deir el Ballah south of Gaza, but caused no casualties. The Egyptians said they fired on two Israeli planes which circled El Arish.

State Has Larger Balance; Treasury Holds $3,274,000

The cash balance in the state general fund was a few thousand dollars larger at the end of February. It stood at $3,274,833 after paying warrants of $2,337,848, Treasurer Ralph Hill said Monday.

Total balance at the end of the month was $72,036,940 at the end of the month, compared with $69,701,521 at the beginning.

The increase occurred in current revenue funds where property tax money from the counties showed up, combined with the fact that there was little expenditure from the highway cash fund because of the slack season. The cash balance raised from $25,832,147 to $27,308,974. The highway balance was $9,052,759.

Invested funds amounted to $34,878,719.

During February, Auditor Ray Johnson said his office issued 35,841 warrants for a total of $9,335,720. Largest number written were for refunds of gasoline tax to farmers, a total of 5,260 for $203,230. There was expended from the highway cash fund $2,425,510 which required but 4,891 warrants.

University of Nebraska, general fund and institution cash were all in the 3,000-warrant bracket.

Business Forecast Sees Continued Prosperity

... Federal Officials Assert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government agencies Monday were reported about ready to release a new business expansion forecast indicating that businessmen are betting heavily on continued prosperity.

The new forecast, said officials familiar with it, will report that businessmen have recently stepped up their plans for outlays on new plant and equipment this year. The most recent previous report indicated this spending would be at an annual rate of about 31½ billion dollars for the first quarter.

An upward revision in the planning tempo would be welcome economic news. Downturns in two other major economic sectors—auto production and home building—have made plant and equipment spending a major sustaining factor.

Uses Same Output

Business expansion soaks up much of the same basic output that the auto and home building industries use—steel and other metals, plastics and rubber, cement, machine tools, lumber and the like. Consequently, an upturn in plans for new business plant and equipment would help take up slack and tend to halt the spread of unemployment.

It would also have the further effect of registering a vote of confidence in continued prosperity. This psychological impact could be important, since plant and equipment spending plans have in the past been highly sensitive to economic trends.

Gas Pump Blazes While Shutoff Valve Is Located

A broken gasoline pump blazed for more than a quarter of an hour early Monday morning while workmen had difficulty finding a cutoff valve.

The pump, knocked off its foundation by a customer's car, is fed by gravity from a tank on a hill behind the Van Horn Service Station in West Lincoln. The blaze erupted after the car bumper knocked the pump over.

Highway traffic was held up on U.S. 234 by the 7 a.m. blaze. Firemen held the flame back from the highways as the leaking gasoline fed toward the paving.

Edwin P. Hood, an airman, said his car accidentally bumped into the pump while he was stopping for gas.

N.H. Official 'Clears Up Lingering Doubts' On Death Of Harry Dexter White

CONCORD, N.H. (U.P. — Atty. Gen. Louis C. Wayman said Monday night Harry Dexter White, accused of being a Russian spy, died of a heart attack at his Fitzwilliam, N. H., summer home in 1948 and there was "no evidence of foul play."

Wayman issued a statement he said was designed to "clear up once and for all any lingering doubts as to whether Mr. White actually died."

The attorney general said he has received an advance copy of the April issue of American Mercury magazine, whose lead article, "Dead or Alive?" deals with the "purported mystery" of White's death.

Wondering

Wayman said the story, written by Karl Hess, "leaves the reader wondering whether Mr. White is actually dead and if he is dead, how he died."

White, a former assistant Treasury secretary, was described in 1953 as a Soviet spy by Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell.

White died in 1948, a few days after denying before the House Committee on Un-American Activities that he had engaged in Communist activities.

The magazine article says "There is no absolute determination of the cause of his (White's) death. Indeed, there is no absolute proof—publicly produced so far—that Harry Dexter White died at all."

Good Faith

The article adds that "the country doctor who in good faith signed the death certificate never saw the body; he cannot conclusively state that the certificate covered the body of a heart attack victim or even the body of White."

Wayman said his office "has taken considerable testimony under oath in this state's investigation of subversive activities in relation to the decease of Harry Dexter White."

"Included in evidence in our files is such evidence as the electrocardiograph of Mr. White taken before he died and the original records of Dr. Herbert Flewelling, late of Jaffrey. We also have sworn testimony from the director of the Waterman Funeral Home in Boston, Mass.

Aug. 16 Death

"All of this evidence shows that Harry Dexter White died at 5:45 p.m. on Aug. 16, 1948 in his summer home at Fitzwilliam, of an acute heart condition as then diagnosed by medical doctors who were in attendance upon him.

"There is no evidence of foul play surrounding his death. Matters of his identity were clearly established during his illness, at the time of his death, and after his death prior to cremation."

Elgin Plant Here Included In 1957 Ammo Program

ELGIN, Ill. — Production of ammunition components at the Elgin National Watch Co. plant here will be continued into 1957 under a new contract awarded by the U.S. Navy, it was announced Monday.

The firm's plant in Lincoln, Neb., is one of those included in the program.

George W. Fraker, general manager of the ordnance division of the company, said the contract is not large enough to permit production at the former peak level.

He said Elgin sharply reduced its profit margin in order to be most competitive in gaining the new contract and to maintain line production at its Lincoln plant. The reported amount of the contract was $4,000,000.

One Special Day

Hyde Sweet of the Nebraska City News-Press was grinding out a column in the mellow warmth of March's noon-day sun in Arizona, a chore which he does magnificently.

He noted that former Gov. Pyle would gladden the hearts of a lot of Arizonans by again becoming a candidate for governor. But Pyle, now serving the President as a member of his staff in Washington, told the home folks that his job was to stay with the President, at the time hinting that it, the job, might continue indefinitely.

"On that score, February 29 has a significance other than to be distinguished for birthdays of people who happen to arrive on earth on Leap Year . . . Historians will tell future generations that on February 29 the President of these United States told millions of fellow citizens that he was in tip-top physical condition, detractors to the contrary notwithstanding, and was able to carry on the duties of his exalted office."

Mr. Sweet means well. But that is not what the President of the United States told millions of fellow citizens. He did say that he felt he could stand the burdens of another four years, but that he must take his rest and watch his health, although the word, "watch," was not the one he used.

All of us will hope that Mr. Eisenhower not only for the next four years but for many more than four enjoys tip-top physical condition.

Dulles Faces The Facts

Even the most sanguine of partisans would hesitate to claim any major diplomatic triumphs stemming out of the current visit to India by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Yet the West can take encouragement from his on-the-spot study of Indian thinking and action in that it can mark a long-range turning point for the better.

Mr. Dulles has received correct and in many instances more than civil treatment. If he has not met with such ovations as the Indian public gave earlier to Bulganin and Khrushchev, it can be attributed to two things. He is playing a follow-up role in a spot where his predecessors campaigned diligently for public favor with the advantage of being there first. And Mr. Dulles' visit is less focused on popular elbow-rubbing than on official trouble shooting.

It has been made clear to him that India does not intend to deviate from its official policy of neutrality, for him or for anyone else. For the time being, he can eliminate that objective from his diplomatic calculations. It will be an aid to realistic thinking. He has also been impressed with the divergence of views on arms for Pakistan. If he has continued the thought that the arms are for defense against Communism, Mr. Nehru made it clear to him that India's view is that Pakistan wishes arms to implement their cause against India.

There is no point presently debating with India over India's convictions. They own them and they are not going to give them up, at least not until time and their own experience suggests a change. That much is clear.

So much for it. The visit, therefore, provides a firm starting point for western diplomacy. It is serving to correct the compass and it is now up to Mr. Dulles to make the most of it. The opportunity is heartening.

The Pioneer Story

It isn't hard to understand greatness when one knows and understands a small part that is symbolic of the whole. Such are the midwestern people who came first to the land, to claim it and settle it and to labor long, bringing it finally into full productive being. They were dreamers,

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Offhand, is there a basis for the conclusion that the most interesting phase of Secretary Benson's farm program—more accurately, the Eisenhower farm program—is ahead, not behind? We had 10-cent corn before we had a farm program. Corn was so cheap in 1896 that it replaced confetti at street carnivals in southern Nebraska towns. The surpluses of those earlier years developed as a result of bumper harvests—more planted acres and bigger average yields per acre than the market could handle.

It is a little bit distressing to find the American people listening to talk by the secretary of agriculture and his spokesmen as though surpluses were something new and a market glutted with grain had put in an appearance here in this fair land only in recent years. It isn't true and if Secretary Benson, President Eisenhower, and others who have swallowed Benson hook, line and sinker come a complete cropper, it will be because the administration started from an assumption 100 per cent wrong. It would have us forget what historically is known as the agrarian unrest and the agrarian uprisings which had developed in this country even before the current century got under way. It is anybody's guess what human flesh out on the farm will do in the light of a new day. Will the soil bank actually lead farm people to plant fewer acres—enough fewer acres to eliminate surpluses? Or as the prices of farm commodities drop, will the decline lead farm people to plant every single foot of available land in order to augment the aggregate income to be squeezed from a field? This thing is so intensely human. Aggregate income or profit in the farming operation has not been the only consideration, or, as a problem of one of the lower income groups in this country, the so-called farm problem would not present itself in the form that it does today—a matter of crushing surpluses.

We were producing surpluses before Uncle Sam embarked upon a plan of price supports. Mr. Benson will discover—human nature being what it is, and the uncertainties what they are when it comes to the abundance or the scarcity of the harvest—that a generous Old Mother Nature, giving this dedicated man an evil leer and boldly thumbing her nose at him, will produce surpluses whether Mr. Benson likes it or not. He is kidding himself but more unfortunately he is kidding a lot of other people.

Each year sees improvement in seed corn and the seed for other grain crops. Each year reveals that the new American farmer is doing a little better job of preparing land, cultivating it, treating it with commercial fertilizers, restoring its fertility, and increasing the average yield of the harvest. Would we have it otherwise? Would we turn back the clock? Would we say that the most important step to be taken in this country today is to turn back progress? Would we recognize in America's present greatness the principle which in truth and in fact is a basic part of Benson's philosophy—namely, the principle of scarcity? Finally, has America reached the point where her people feel that all those farmers and their families contributing at this time to what we call surplus production should pull up stakes, leave the land, more to the town or the city, and there strive to obtain a livelihood acceptable to American conceptions of living standards?

The farm program which Secretary Benson scrapped, with the help and support of President Eisenhower, was not perfect. Its weaknesses were known and recognized. The Eisenhower farm program will not be perfect, by any means. Under it the American farmer will enjoy less income than he has in this last decade and a half. And when the results are in, bountiful harvests will mean continuing surpluses—with all due apologies to the soil banks. The absence of surpluses will develop in those years when widespread drought covers the region between the Rockies and the Alleghenies. Then, being the kind of people we are, we will wish to high heaven we had some surpluses.

Congressmen, Oil To Be Investigated

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Brownell is launching some bare-knuckle crack-downs on congressmen—all of them so far Democrats. In the next two months he plans to indict approximately eight congressmen, possibly more, for income tax evasion.

The first of these cases came to a head before a grand jury in Boston last week when Democratic Congressman Thomas Lane of Massachusetts was indicted. Others on Brownell's list include two from the South, one from California, two from Pennsylvania.

One congressman whom Brownell has had the ax out to get is William Green of Philadelphia, boss of the Democratic machine in a city which has been Republican-controlled almost ever since the Civil War, but which has been Democratic for the past five years. Green, who is the Philadelphia Democratic chairman, has had his taxes gone over with a fine-tooth comb, during which the tax agents found he had failed to chalk up $1,200 from the sale of a lot.

Green stated in this column that it was an honest oversight made by his bookkeeper. Whether Brownell's boys will view it that way is something else again.

Significantly, Brownell also cracked down on one of the potent Democratic leaders of West Virginia, Homer Hanna, with an income tax indictment last week—just as West Virginia Democrats were trying to pick a successor to Senator Harley Kilgore. Hanna has picked a lot of senators in the past.

Note—Democratic income tax administrators were more lenient—too lenient. When the attention of Commissioner Joe Nunan was called to the fact that Senator Joe McCarthy was found to be $3,000 off by Wisconsin income tax officials, Nunan observed: "Oh, we wouldn't bother a senator who was only $3,000 off." Nunan himself, later ended in jail. McCarthy was given a clean tax bill by Republican Tax Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews.

One month has now passed since Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the handsome senate Democratic leader, lashed out at Republican Senator Case of South Dakota for impugning the integrity of the senate. "The good name of the senate," he proclaimed, "must be protected."

Since then various moves and counter-moves, stalls and counter-stalls have been made in the process of protecting the fair name of the senate, but its name remains even less protected than on the day meek Senator Case opened wide the senate Pandora's Box of political contributions.

Mrs. America Is Still Best Of All

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — The community cops and National Guardsmen have temporarily repelled the crackpot hot-rodgers who tried to take the town apart recently. Nothing menacing now lies on the horizon except the "Mrs. America" contest which will be climaxed up the beach at Ellinor village in May in a shower of dimples, tears, housekeeping, baking, wardrobeing, snooping and whatnot.

Though most "Mrs. America" winners of the past would stack up well in any contest with "Miss America," the married girls are never expected to peel. The average winner would be in her mid-30s and she has two children. She plans and prepares more than 1,000 meals a year, makes an attractive home for the kids and the old man, takes an active interest in her husband's work, her children's school, the community life.

Here's what the reigning queen, Mrs. Ramona Deitemeyer of Lincoln, Neb., went through en route to the title:

The 35-year-old mother of five children, whose husband Carl is managing editor of a farm magazine, picked up an entry blank at a car dealer, filled it out, and was promptly asked to bake a cake. Local judges popped in on the Deitemeyer home, apparently to see if they were slugging the kids around or eating cold beans out of a can. Satisfied and impressed that Mrs. Deitemeyer was a jewel, they shot her into the city finals, where she won with her baking.

The district contest would have made some belles of my acquaintance fall into a faint at the very thought. Mrs. Deitemeyer slugged through cooking a tasty meal from stem to stern (had to be the right nutritious values, etc.), ironed a shirt, made an apron in the state finals, they threw in marks for poise, general appearance, how she rated at the PTA—and suddenly there she was, "Mrs. Nebraska." She was now a 49-to-1 shot to take it all at Ellinor Beach, there being a rival "Mrs." from each state and the District of Columbia.

At Ellinor Beach, the 49 gals were put up in as many fully-equipped bungalows, accompanied by their husbands, and put to work. The community air soon was intoxicating with the aroma of baking cakes, pies, bread, biscuits, sizzling steaks, crackling salads, vegetables and coffee. Souffles fell with a roar that resembled the surf. Needles flew, vacuum cleaners whined, irons slushed across men's shirts—while the trapped men probably sobbed to go to Hialeah or to Jake's. Judges trooped through the little hatches, morning, noon and night, prying into cooking pots, rubbing fingers over the top of the TV sets, sampling the linens.

If it sounds like pure and unadulterated hell, Mrs. Deitemeyer, the winnab and still champion as of this writing, didn't seem to mind. Upon accepting the keys to the state, back home in Lincoln, she said:

"There is no finer career than homemaking. Women who turn to other professions for glamour haven't found the true meaning of homemaking. Managing a home, bringing up children, engaging in church and community activities, all are exciting ventures in themselves."

Contest closes April 20, the day after Grace Kelly starts doing Prince Rainier's shirts. (Distributed 1956 By INS)

DORIS FLEESON

Congress Tie-up Shaken By Veto

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower's veto of the gas bill and the stormy course of the Senate lobbying inquiry it set in motion have called attention to a fact long recognized here.

It is that Congress is effectively ruled in domestic matters by a conservative coalition which is very largely independent of the nominal majority be it Democratic or Republican. Its Democratic members are Southerners and Southwesterners. Co-operating with them is the Republican right, which includes most of that party's ranking members.

The late Sen. Taft put this coalition together about 1933. The quid pro quo has long been obvious.

Although the Democratic flank on civil rights has been more or less exposed ever since then, Republicans have not pushed the civil rights legislation for which they could always have had liberal Democratic support. In turn, the Democratic coalitionists have co-operated on the pocketbook issues to which Republicans attach central importance.

A large part of the President's smooth sailing in the past three years has been due to the fact that, like the coalition, he has anchored himself in a rather central position. The effect has been to isolate the Republican right and the Democratic liberals.

Thus the Congress passed into Democratic hands in 1954 with scarcely a tremor and no visible dent in the Eisenhower stature. Democrats prefer to say that this proves them more "responsible" than the Republican 80th Congress which made life a burden for former President Truman from 1946 to 1948.

The truth is that Eisenhower suits the coalition very well and the challenging Truman did not. Of course the 80th Congress furnished Mr. Truman with issues for his winning fight for re-election in 1948. It could very well be that Democratic failure under its present leadership to draw clear lines against the White House is the single most important political fact of the approaching campaign. The Democratic candidate for President will have to create his own issues for the most part and exploit them as best he can.

What the gas bill veto has done, however, is to place a heavy strain on the President's relations with the coalition. He put it on the defensive with respect to the gas bill which it forced to pass over the protests of liberals in both parties. Then he compounded the felony by calling shocked attention to the matter of congressional campaign contributions.

The coalition had every reason to expect the President to sign the gas bill—he still says he favors the objective and invited Congress to come back next year. Now its Democratic members are shocked and angry and the general atmosphere is one of "save himself who can." (Copyright, 1956, By UF Syndicate, Inc.)

THE FIVE LOAVES

Stories From The Life Of Jesus

he could see where the crowd had stopped—and by the shore a swaying black dot that must be Peter's boat.

"If I hurry I can get there in an hour or so." ★ ★ ★

He started off again. But he could not keep his eyes on the spot where Jesus was. He must watch where he walked. He lost track of time. He simply walked. An hour passed. Another. Perspiration and tears stung his eyes. Anger he rubbed them with his fist, and walked . . .

The sun was low over the sea when Seth finally saw Jesus. He saw no one else. He walked right to the very front row around the Master. He sank to his knees on the grass. Jesus's words flowed over him like a cool breeze. The first star shone in the west. And Jesus' voice fell silent.

Seth opened his eyes. Near him the apostles huddled around the Master. Seth heard Philip say:

"Lord, this is a desert place, and the dinner hour has passed. Send these people away now, so that they can go to the villages and buy food."

But Jesus replied: "They have no need to go. Give them something to eat!"

Taking his basket, Seth ran to the nearest apostle, the fisherman named Andrew.

"I have some food," he said. "Not much. But take it! I'm—I'm not hungry."

Andrew peered at Seth's dirt-smudged face. He saw the dried sweat, the tangled hair, the blisters on his palm. "You worked hard to carry that food. Come!"

Andrew let Seth to Jesus.

"Lord," said the apostle, "there is a boy here who has five loaves of barley bread, and two fishes." Andrew paused. "But—what are these among so many?"

The dark eyes of the Son of God brightened the twilight with their smile. Those eyes seemed to be looking into the corners of Seth's heart, and to say a silent: "Well done!"

For answer Jesus unwrapped Seth's five loaves of bread. He took the bread and blessed it. When He broke the loaves into pieces, and giving them to the apostles to feed the crowd. Then He took the two baked fish and blessed them, too, and broke them in pieces.

Seth sucked his cheeks in silent wonder. Five thousand people ate of those five loaves and two fishes. There were even second helpings!

Andrew sat beside Seth on the grass.

"You have helped to make a miracle," Andrew said. "Your mother and you. I do not know what it cost you in pain and weariness, but He knows. And look what He has made of the little you offered!"

Then Jesus spoke quietly: "Gather up the pieces that remain, lest they be lost!" And Andrew went with the others, to gather the pieces which filled twelve baskets. More remained than Seth had brought!

And suddenly, the crowd was moving toward Jesus crying: "Lord, be our King!" "A King!" The Master stood shaking His head in sadness, as the crowd approached. Not for a crown had He come!

Then, leaving the puzzled crowd behind, Jesus hurried up the mountainside alone to pray. Seth also walked alone that night. There were people all around him, but Seth, empty basket at his side, hardly heard them.

"Why did He not want to be King?" he wondered. "I have heard Him speak of the kingdom of heaven, but I do not know what He means. All I know is that He is my King. And I shall love Him and honor Him, and obey His word till I die."

And hugging the secret of the miracle to his heart, Seth hurried homeward to tell his mother of the wonder God had made from her five loaves of new barley bread, and her two fresh-baked fish.

Parakeet Served Up With Roquefort Sauce

McGuffey would smell better if Mrs. F. did not use roquefort dressing in her salads.

The reason McGuffey smells like he does is that I was not foresighted enough to just ignore Captain Kidd. I have never met Captain Kidd, who is a burger-gar or parakeet just as McGuffey is and is owned by Mrs. C. J. Smith of Walnut Creek, Calif. If McGuffey hadn't needed a bath, I might never have heard of Captain Kidd.

Six or eight weeks ago McGuffey got himself entangled in my typewriter and came out very well inked. I worried about it in print. It was then that Mrs. Smith told me how Captain Kidd takes a bath in dampened lettuce leaves, celery tops and any other handy leafy green vegetables, cut up and placed in a special bowl.

What's good for Captain Kidd, I reasoned, ought to be good for McGuffey.

By the time I got around to trying out the vegetable bath technique, McGuffey was pretty well inked, but it seemed like a good idea, anyway. I shredded all the lettuce in the house. This, incidentally, caused a minor crisis and a trip to the store, because it developed that Mrs. F. had planned to use the lettuce some other way. However, that is beside the point. McGuffey did not take to the produce bath immediately. He distrusts me. He evidently believed I was trying to plant him. He kicked, squawked and pit, so I left him alone and went to put a strip of adhesive tape on the neck he had taken out of my thumb.

When I came back, he was tunneling gloriously through the vegetables. He had a small piece of a lettuce leaf cocked rakishly over one eye.

With some half-formed idea of making friends with McGuffey—we have engaged in a running feud for many months—I fixed him up a leafy swimming pool several times thereafter. There was no trouble at all, except for the time I ran out of lettuce and used several petunias from Mrs. F.'s flower garden, which she had been saving for a women's club party. Neither McGuffey nor Mrs. F. approved.

My new friendship with McGuffey grew apace, until this week, when he came downstairs at dinner-time. Downstairs is off limits to him, as a protection for our dachshunds. We did not know of his presence until a whirl of turquoise wings sounded above the table. Then it was too late.

Like a guided missile out of control he hit the roquefort salad. I looked up just in time to see a slice of carrot plastered against Mrs. F.'s eye. Then a shred of lettuce draped itself on my nose, and I was busy with my own welfare. McGuffey, possibly realizing that his time was short, was a very busy parakeet amid the vegetables. Lettuce, celery and whatnot heaved like an agitated sea, spilling over into the coffee and garnishing the pork chops. Then McGuffey got a taste of roquefort. He already had a liberal covering of it. He came up fighting, and I was his target. I, also, soon had a liberal covering of roquefort.

I took a bath before dessert, but that didn't solve the whole problem. McGuffey needs one again. (Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate)

Questionable Win

President Ngo Dinh Diem recorded a sweeping victory in the recent elections in South Viet Nam and apparently gave the communists a bad lacing.

The West, however, should not be too hasty in acclaiming the triumph. Democracy is a new departure in that country and there are charges that the president's regime got the victory by application of self-helping election regulations which were so distasteful to splinter parties that they refused to participate.

A little more maturity for democratic principles will teach both minority groups not to abstain from voting for that is a negation of the essence of free elections, and it will teach political leaders that their future will always be tenuous if they gain office by restrictive practices.

Adm. Burke Says Atom-Powered Carrier Is Possible By 1961

Nuclear Flatp A 3-Year Project

ABOARD U.S.S. FORRESTAL IN THE CARIBBEAN SEA (AP)—Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, said Monday he hopes an atomic-powered carrier will be ready by 1961 and that the uncompleted battleship Kentucky will become armed with a lethal variety of guided missiles.

In a news conference aboard this latest and biggest of the Navy's long family of carriers, Burke touched on these points: The Navy plans to submit its request for a nuclear carrier in 1958.

It would take about three years to build the ship.

Two Decks

It might be about the size of the Forrestal (70,000 tons).

It may have two angled decks to increase and expedite the handling of planes.

It even may have two "island" structures—there are "all kinds of combinations" possible in design when the bothersome smoke stacks of conventional powered carriers are displaced with the smokeless atomic engine.

"We hope in the next couple of years to finish" the Kentucky, which was started near the end of the World War II as another Iowa-class, 45,000-ton battleship.

"We hope to be able to incorporate in the Kentucky", now at Norfolk, Va., at least four different types of missiles—an Intermediate Range Ballistic Missile (of about 1,500 mile range); the Regulus surface-to-surface bombardment missile, which has a range of several hundred miles at transonic speed; anti-aircraft guided missiles like the Terrier and Talos which could be used for surface-to-surface attack without too extensive change.

Near Coasts

"We sight some of their (the Russians) submarines sometimes and so do merchantmen" (merchant ships). They are seen "mostly near their own coasts." The Soviet Union probably has about 400 submarines approximately half of them modern types. The Navy at this time has no information which leads it to believe the Russians have an atomic submarine. But the Russians know how to build reactors and "there is no reason why they shouldn't have atomic submarines" in the near future.

Burke, who came aboard the Forrestal after the week-long conference of the Joint Chiefs of Staff at neighboring Puerto Rico, stepped cautiously around questions about what transpired there.

Fund Campaign Kicks Off

A $200,000 campaign to gather funds for a new Trinity Methodist education building was kicked off with a dinner and followed by a skit presented by the above division captains. Five divisions were formed to correspond with different stages of the

Trinity Methodist's Building Drive Kicked Off By 275 Attending Dinner

About 275 persons at a dinner Monday evening kicked off the Trinity Methodist Church's campaign to raise $200,000 to build a new education building at 16th and A.

Some 250 campaigners attended the drive kick-off for funds. The new structure will be built west of the present church building. The drive closes March 25, Frederick A. Reed, general chairman, said. Five divisional leaders presented the entertainment in a skit after the dinner. Each was attired according to the appropriate name of his individual division. Representative divisions are carpenters, plumbers, electricians, roofers and painters.

Division chairmen named were Rudy Amen, electricians; Willys Johnson, plumbers; Russell Joynt, carpenter; Dan Meyer, roofers and Warren Urbom, painters.

The new building will house a hall seating 430, or 300 at tables, a lounge, kitchen, assembly room and crib and nursery areas on the first floor. Church school offices, 11 classrooms and two kindergarten groups will be located on the second floor.

Ministers of the church are Dr. Vance D. Rogers and the Rev. S. B. Thomas.

RudgeFundMoney To Pay For Kids' Pool At Irvingdale

The children's wading pool has been replaced in the plans for the new swimming pool project at Irvingdale Park.

The wading area was removed from the plans to keep the cost of the project below the city's estimate of $70,000. The facility will now be constructed with money from the Charles Rudge Memorial Fund.

Co-ordinator James Mallon reported that the Rudge fund now contains $5,500. The wading pool and necessary fencing will cost $1,440.

The Rudge fund at one time totaled $23,000 but has been nearly used up in work on the lake and park at 17th and Harrison.

The only restriction on the Rudge money is that it not be used for routine maintenance and upkeep.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

March Bride

MRS. WALTER SOWERS

At a candlelight ceremony on Sunday evening, March 11, the marriage of Miss Lillian Schaffer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Schaffer, to Walter R. Sowers, son of Mrs. Mary Sowers of Ord, took place at the Zion Congregational Church. The 7 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. J. P. Flemmer before a background of lighted candles in seven-branched holders. Miss Verna Loos, organist, played the wedding music and also accompanied Mrs. Ed Plessel, the vocal soloist.

Miss Elsie Schaffer, as her sister's maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Stella Sowers, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Genevieve Griffin, appeared in alike frocks of blue lace over taffeta. Each carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white feathered carnations. Roxanne Schaffer was the flower girl, and Terry Schaffer carried the ring.

Russell White served Mr. Sowers as best man, and seating the guests were Gene Reifschneider and Eldon Strasheim.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace over satin for her wedding. The long-sleeved bodice was designed with a shell neckline softly contoured with natural scallops of lace, and an applique pattern of lace banded the full skirt of tulle. Her tiered veil of illusion was waist-length and was held to the head with a modified crown of lace, dotted with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and white carnations.

School Land Rent Reduced In 29 More Counties

'Most Pressing Problems Met'

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Reduction in school land rentals in 29 counties were announced by the Board of Educational Lands and Funds after a meeting Monday, bringing to 55 the total number of counties where reductions have been made, according to Chairman Tom Coffey of Alma.

The latest reduction was effective Monday.

It will come about through lowering the appraised value of the state owned land, having the effect of lowering the rent automatically since rental is six per cent per year of the appraised value.

"This is about the end of reductions for awhile," Coffey said. "We have met the most pressing problems."

He explained that remaining counties which have had no adjustments will have each farm visited individually and action will be based on the physical survey by the appraisers.

Coffey said that the counties remaining to be acted upon are in the Sandhills and the eastern end of the state which are normally due for re-appraisal this year.

The reduction pattern for the latest counties acted upon is about the same as for counties acted upon previously: an average reduction of about 20 per cent on farm land, 15 per cent on hay land and about five per cent on range land.

Counties acted upon Monday were:

Franklin, Buffalo, Furnas, Gosper, Dawson, Box Butte, Knox, Merrick, Rock, Valley, Antelope, Blaine, Boone, Boyd, Brown, Cedar, DePue, Pierce, Sheridan, Wheeler, Cuming, Custer, Garfield, Greeley, Holt, Howard, Madison, Platte and Stanton.

The board will meet again on March 26.

Court Orders Pre-Adoption Investigations

The Lancaster County Court now requires a pre-adoption investigation of parents when both are adoptive parents and the adoption has not been processed through an official state child placement agency.

County Judge Herbert Ronin announced the new rule, now in effect, will also apply to adoption petitions on file.

No written investigation report will be required in cases where one of the adopting parents is the natural parent.

Judge Ronin said the new rule has been adopted to provide the same information for the court as provided in cases handled through a state child placement agency.

Attorneys are asked to make appointments with their clients with Mrs. Beth Ramey, senior case work supervisor of the County Division of Public Welfare.

Electric Blanket Said Blaze Cause

A bedroom blaze at 4:30 a.m. Monday apparently set off by an electric blanket, resulted in heavy damage at the residence of Mrs. Peggy M. O'Connor at 3135 West Summit.

Mrs. O'Connor said her two daughters, aged four and nine, were sleeping in the room when the eldest girl woke up and reported the fire.

The beds, other furniture and carpeting were badly burned in the girls' room, Mrs. O'Connor said and smoke and water damage occurred in other parts of the duplex apartment.

'Times' Scooped As Staffer Gives Margaret Ring

NEW YORK (INS) — The New York Times was "scooped" Monday on the betrothal of Margaret Truman to one of its editorial staff members, E. C. Daniel Jr.

The morning publication apparently had no advance tip on the announcement which was made at mid-morning by former President Harry S. Truman, giving afternoon newspapers the "break."

The morning's edition of the Times carried no word about Miss Truman's weekend visit to Daniel's family in Zebulon, N.C. — the first tip on the romance.

Science Develops New Tablet: Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For 3 out of 4 Women Tested! Gives Greater Relief Than Aspirin!

Boston, Mass. (Special)—New promise of relief for women who suffer tortures of monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in an amazing new tablet... developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers greater relief than aspirin during that distressing period each month!
Doctors report remarkable results. For 3 out of 4 women tested, pain and cramps were stopped or strikingly relieved. Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no backaches or other functionally-caused distress... were also less jittery the trying week before their period!
The new tablet contains not just one or two ingredients but a unique combination of special medicines. That's why this new discovery offers more relief than plain aspirin! Unlike such "general-purpose" remedies, it acts on the cause of distress. Has amazing power to calm uterine contractions, also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system. Called "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets," the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take new Pinkham's Tablets are now available at all drug stores without a prescription.
So don't suffer needlessly. Take Pinkham's Tablets yourself. See if you don't feel worlds better this very month. See if you don't escape much of the irritability and discomfort—both before and during those "difficult days." (For liquid form... ask for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

64th Blast In U.S. Nuclear History To Rock Pacific Soon

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Out in the distant Pacific, the United States will fire within the next few weeks its 64th nuclear blast since the atomic era began.

This explosion, like the last two at the Eniwetok Proving Grounds, will emphasize the hydrogen bomb — the weapon to which world strategy now is patterned.

This is the heavyweight member of a family of weapons which the United States has developed through more than 10 years of effort and an investment of 12 billion dollars.

What's H-Bomb Like?
 Of what does this family consist?

A casing small enough to fit into the bay of a medium bomber, containing energy equal to the explosion of 10 million tons (more if desired) of ordinary TNT.

Or a tactical fission bomb, with the power of only 20,000 tons of TNT, suitable for striking enemy troops on a battlefield or taking out a specific group of buildings or an airfield.

Or artillery shells for the same purposes.

Or missiles which can mount warheads ranging anywhere between the energy yield of the little atom bombs or the hydrogen bomb.

Unhappily, this fearsome array is not the only such family of weapons in the world. So the Eniwetok tests will be aimed not only at improving their potentialities but devising or improving defenses against them.

Here are some of the awesome considerations involved:

A 10-megaton weapon (10 million tons of energy release) produces a fire ball three miles in diameter. Near the core, objects are vaporized by extreme heat. Farther out, metal melts. Beyond the fire ball itself, thermal radiation instantly touches off all combustible material.

The blast from a 10-megaton hydrogen bomb would leave no survivors, even among those seeking shelter in a reinforced concrete structure, outward for more than three miles from "ground zero." Out to 12 miles average homes would suffer severe damage, with more than three quarters of the people in them killed, the rest seriously injured.

Fall-Out Peril
 The fall-out peril spreads much farther. A single H-bomb blast could dust an area of 7,000 square miles with lingering potentially lethal radioactive particles.

Then there are other weapons which while not of nuclear nature must be considered in planning defenses for the atomic age. These include toxic warfare devices such as nerve gas, which kills almost as quickly and far more agonizingly than the bomb itself. It can be planted by missile or plane.

Another potential mass killer is bacteriological warfare — BW — which can be applied in two ways:

against people and against the food on which they must live. It isn't fully effective in its present form, and its use might entail several applications.

As the United States begins anew its attempts both to improve and to devise defenses against the weapons of the atomic age, their very fearfulness may tend to obscure the brighter side of the forces they involve.

This and other nations, both friendly and unfriendly, are presumed to be on the threshold of a period in which the atom will work wonders for all mankind. But this era might still be far in the future had it not been for war, with its exigencies and emotions.

Under those pressures and with the huge sums of money available for waging World War II, science kototook the abstract theory of atomic splitting and translated it into the atomic bomb.

PARKER TRIAL DELAYED WEEK UNTIL APRIL 9TH

... Witness' Dates Conflict

Call of the next Lancaster District Court jury has been postponed one week to April 9 because of conflicting dates for witnesses in the Darrel F. Parker murder case.

District Judge John L. Polk rescheduled the call from April 2 when defense attorneys advised the court that a key witness could not be available for the trial as originally scheduled.

The defense witness is Dr. Douglas M. Kelley of Berkeley, Calif., a University of California criminologist and psychiatrist.

Dr. Kelley, who ran lie detector tests on Parker last month, reported the results of his examination as showing that the defendant had "no guilty knowledge" of the crime and made a "false confession." Authorities took a signed statement from Parker a week after the slaying.

Parker, 24-year-old ex-city forester, has been charged with first-degree murder in the Dec. 14 strangulation death of his wife, Nancy. He has pleaded innocent.

Don't Write—Call. It's Often A Bigger Bargain

- Do you know that it often costs less to telephone long distance than to write a business letter?
- It costs an average of $1.38 to write a 150-word business letter, according to recent studies by a large insurance organization.
- By comparison, it costs $1.32 or less to call hundreds of places by long distance. For instance, a 500-mile call to Denver or Chicago is only $1.32, including tax, for a three minute, daytime call, station-to-station.
- Besides, 450 words are spoken in an average three-minute call—and you have the added advantage of speaking personally and getting your answer on the spot.
- So you see, long distance gives your message that personal touch, speeds your transactions and is inexpensive too. Try it in your own business. You'll find long distance doesn't cost—it pays.

Perjury Charge Stands In WW II Mystery Case

WASHINGTON (INS) — A federal judge refused Monday to dismiss the cloak and dagger perjury indictment against former Army Lieutenant Aldo L. Icardi.

U.S. Judge Purnita S. Matthews cleared the way for trial next month of the 34-year-old Pittsburgh man charged with falsely denying any connection with the wartime death of Major William V. Holohan, behind enemy lines in Italy.

However, Judge Matthews agreed to defense motions for dismissal of two of the eight counts in the perjury indictment. The counts relate to relatively minor points in the strange, 12-year-old case.

Both Holohan and Icardi served with an Office of Strategic Services mission during WW II.

Accused of Lying

Icardi, now a real estate broker, was accused of lying to a two-man House Armed Services Subcommittee which investigated the mysterious slaying of Holohan.

Icardi's defense attorney, Edward Bennett Williams, argued before Judge Matthews last month that the Congressional hearing was "a kangaroo court which made a sham of justice."

The grand jury indictment followed the finding of an Italian court that Icardi and former Sergeant Carl Lo Dolce, of Rochester, N.Y., planned and executed the Holohan slaying. A U.S. court blocked their extradition to Italy.

The federal grand jury, last August, accused Icardi of falsely denying the slaying. The grand jury indictment charged Icardi poisoned Holohan, shot him and dumped his body in a nearby lake.

Icardi could not be tried in this country on more serious charges because American courts lack jurisdiction.

The counts dismissed Monday related to Icardi's denial of a charge that he and Lo Dolce drew cards or tossed a coin to determine who would slay Holohan. The other count dismissed Monday charged that Icardi lied when he said an Army colonel investigating the case told him he was "convinced" that "you had nothing whatsoever to do with what happened to Major Holohan."

The perjury trial on the remaining six counts is now tentatively scheduled for April 16.

ALL MAJOR STATE ROADS TRAFFIC UP

All counting stations on major Nebraska highways show heavier traffic during the first two months this year than in the corresponding period a year ago, the Highway Department reported Monday.

The increase averaged 3 per cent, and ranged up to 16 per cent on U.S. 6-34 west of Arapahoe.

U.S. 30 west of Elm Creek showed 4 per cent gain.

Bids Asked On LNAs Small Arms Building

Bids for construction of a one-story magazine building to house small arms and pyrotechnics at Lincoln's Naval Air Station will be received until March 29.

The building will be about 13 feet wide and 22 feet long. It will be constructed of reinforced concrete wall and foundations and have a roof of corrugated asbestos-cement sheets and steel supports. The work will also include grading and earth work, access road, drainage and grass seeding.

Offutt Base Water To Be Fluoridated

OMAHA — Fluoridation of the Offutt Air Force Base water supply will begin as soon as equipment can be installed. Lt. Col. Samuel A. Terris, base dental surgeon, said.

He said it will cost about $3,500 for equipment to add the sodium fluoride.

The fluoride content will be brought to one part per million parts of water. The base has its own water supply system from wells.

Bell Plans To File

Edward J. Bell of Grand Island informed the Secretary of State Monday of his intent to file for nomination to the Legislature from the 30th District. Joseph Martin is the incumbent.

1,631 State Polio Shots For Indigent Now Available

Two additional shipments of anti-polio vaccine over the weekend raised the number of doses available for medically indigent persons in the designated age bracket to 1,631.

Ten per cent of the vaccine now being released to Nebraska goes to the Health Department for distribution to doctors having patients unable to pay for it. The other 90 per cent goes to commercial drug houses for sale on the open market.

"Since we have received our 10 per cent, we assume the stores are getting theirs through the drug houses," Allen Rouse, director of the vaccine program, commented.

Until recently, all of the vaccine released to Nebraska was channeled through the Health Department.

The present 90-10 plan was instituted on the recommendation of the house of delegates of the State Medical Assn.

Omahans, Ress Discuss Interstate Route Survey

An Omaha group conferred with State Engineer L. N. Ress Monday about the survey, to be started soon for the proposed interstate route through Omaha toward Lincoln.

Omaha Public Improvements Commissioner Bill Milner and City Engineer Ed Woodbridge headed the group.

Contract has been signed with a Baltimore engineering concern to make the survey.

POSTCARD

Sombody in Reno estimated for me last night that there were more than 100,000 slot machines in Nevada. The last frontier since slot machines were outlawed by a Federal law.

All up and down Virginia Street, the slot machines set up a ready clatter. Clatter, clatter, clatter, crash, clatter, crash, clatter, crash, clatter, crash. For Nevada's legal gambling houses are open 24 hours.

"A slot machine has no dealer and only needs a little servicing," said a Reno gambler. "We can pay back 92 per cent and make money on the grind."

"Give me the slot machine concession in Grand Central Station and I'll pay the war debt," said Mr. Lou Wertheimer.

There is a fascination in the whirling wheels with the cherries, the oranges and the elusive bars of the jackpot.

Professor B. F. Skinner of Harvard University decided to find out what made people pull levers hour after hour. The first thing he did was get some slot machines and some chimpanzees. Because as all psychologists know, people are like chimpanzees and vice versa.

First they loaded the machines with bananas. When the chimp pulled the lever, he got a banana.

Then they rigged the machine so he had to get the combination to get the banana.

Then they fixed the machine so he just got something that only looked like a banana.

The chimps did not give a hoot. They were hooked. They went right on playing. Just like the ladies who sit all day in front of the machines in Harold's or Harrah's Clubs.

They fixed the machines so that the chimp only got a poker chip payoff. The chimp went right on playing, anyway.

Turkey, who runs the machines out at the Circle RB, said he thought it was a terrible thing to teach a chimp.

"Next thing you know, they will teach those chimps to spoon a machine. Reno will be full of monkeys spooning machines and playing them."

Spooning a machine is tripping it so it pays off illegally. You run a device down the slot so that you don't have to drop in nickels or quarters or silver dollars.

"If some of these people spent as much time as they do in making things to beat the house, they could make the atom bomb," said Mr. Wertheimer.

He said he was all against teaching chimpanzees to play slot machines.

"Because who ever heard of a chimpanzee had any money? It doesn't make sense. You bring a chimp in here with a loaded poke now, we will let him play any table in the house. With a limit, naturally. I would not let even a chimp play in here without a limit."

Real slot machine addicts often play two or three machines at a time. The management is helpful. They give the person a stool to sit on.

The idea seems to be to hit the jackpot. Many Nevada machines are set up to hit more than usual jackpots. But they are also set to give smaller numbers of small pay-offs.

The slot machine players don't seem to care. As fast as it comes out they put it back in. They don't care what comes out. Silver dollars or bananas. I asked Turkey why he didn't just fill the machines with bananas. He said he didn't want to encourage a lot of educated chimps to come around and play the machines.

"Get a place full of monkeys playing the slots, it might give the house a funny reputation."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Still Whittling
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — The fine old pastime of whittling still has an ardent advocate in Aaron Jouan, a native of Sweden who came here in 1912. On a visit to his native land in 1923, Jouan went to the World's Fair at Gothenburg, saw some displays of wood carving and whittling, and decided to give it a try. He's been going ever since on letter openers, paperweights, birds, dogs, book ends and other ornaments.

DePaul Upset By Wayne U

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Morehead's top-scoring Eagles overpowered Marshall, 107-92, and scrappy little Wayne upset DePaul, 72-63, in first-round games of the NCAA basketball tournament Monday night.

The two winners will go to Iowa City for second-round play Friday. Morehead and Marshall, one-two in the national scoring picture, lived up to their billing as they matched fast breaks. It was the third victory of the season for Morehead, the Ohio Valley Conference champion, over Marshall, the Mid-American Conference winner.

Marshall led only briefly in the first half, and Morehead was on top at the half, 51-46. Marshall never got closer than 4 points in the second half.

Dan Swartz, 6-4 center, scored 39 points for Morehead, mostly underneath. When the Marshall defense jammed up for Swartz, Steve Hamilton opened it up with outside and corner shots, contributing 23 points. Ceb Price carried the load for Marshall with 27.

Morehead hit 39 of 83 shots, and Marshall sank 40 of 90. Morehead sank 31 of 42 free throws and Marshall only 12 of 21.

Morehead had averaged 96 points a game for the season. Marshall's average was 93.

Wayne gave away inches in height but outgrew DePaul in the first game.

Clarence Straughn, 5-11 sophomore guard, hit from all over the floor as he scored 27 points for Wayne. Straughn and guard Bob Kendrick, who scored 14 points, took the ball away from the bigger Blue Demons time after time.

DePaul's leading scorer, Ron Sobieszczyk, was held to 17 points and got only five in the second half as Wayne pulled away.

Wayne led after a seesaw half, 37-36. DePaul led for the last time at 42-41, after which a Wayne squirt put the Tartars ahead at 53-44. DePaul made it close at 62-60 but never caught up again.

Reds Trip Cards On Bell's Sacrifice

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — A sacrifice fly by Gus Bell in the sixth inning Monday gave the Cincinnati Reds their first exhibition victory of the season as they downed the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1.

The lone Cardinal run came in the fourth on successive two-out doubles by Ken Boyer and Bill Virdon. After that they succeeded in getting only one man past first base the remainder of the game.

The defeat went to former Red-leg relief ace, Jackie Collum, traded to St. Louis in the off season.

Canisius, Temple Score Wins In NCAA Meet

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

N E W Y O R K (AP) — Canisius came out of the deep freeze in the fourth overtime period Monday night and turned back North Carolina State 79-78 in the opening round of the National Collegiate basketball championships.

A field goal by substitute Frank Corcoran with 5 seconds to go in the fourth extra period gave Canisius the upset victory after Temple had turned back Holy Cross 74-72 in another thriller decided in the final minute.

Canisius, which had only a mediocre 17-6 record for the regular season, seemed about ready to yield to the Atlantic Coast Conference champions when Corcoran broke loose on a lightning-fast play for the winning goal.

State had just taken the lead on field goals by Phil DiNardo and Johnny Maglio in a lively session that followed three farcical but tense overtime periods in which each team had scored a total of only 6 points.

The Carolinians, down most of the evening, caught up just before the end of the regulation time. It was 65-65 when they started the extra periods; 69-69 after the first; 71-71 after the second and the same score at the end of the third.

"We figured to stop Ronnie Shavlik," enthused Joe Curran.

Yankees Trip Chisox, 4-2

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — One-hit pitching by southpaw Whitey Ford and a solo home run by Mickey Mantle brought the New York Yankees a 4-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Monday in the first exhibition meeting of leading contenders for the American League pennant.

Ford was the third Yankee hurler to go four innings and he had the best of it over lefty Billy Pierce, who gave up six hits and three runs while working the first three frames for the White Sox.

A walk, singles by Bob Cerv and Lou Skizas and a double by Woody Held gave the Yanks two runs in the second. Mantle swatted his second homer in the two days in the third and Bill Skowron doubled home the final Yankee run in the fifth off Bob Keegan.

Fine Urged For Golfer Doug Ford

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — PGA Tournament Director Ray O'Brien has recommended that Doug Ford be fined the maximum amount possible for conduct unbecoming a player, the official said Monday.

Ford said it was his understanding that the maximum fine under a new rule was $1,000. O'Brien said, however that it was only $100.

The recommendation was made by O'Brien to the tournament committee. Ford said the committee is to meet Tuesday at St. Petersburg, Fla., and will probably consider the recommendation.

It was the outgrowth of an argument which followed a protest by Ford against slow play by Mike Fitchick in the third round of the Pensacola Open Saturday. O'Brien overruled the protest.

Fitchick, from Mahopac, N.Y., played a threesome in front of Ford's threesome.

Persons waiting outside O'Brien's office Saturday night said they could hear a heated exchange between Ford and O'Brien.

Ford, the 1955 PGA champion and a consistent money winner on the pro tournament circuit, charged that O'Brien was not enforcing regulations against slow play in the tournament.

O'Brien was en route Monday to St. Petersburg, where the next open tournament begins Thursday.

Ford, who plays out of Klamath Lake, N.Y., was reluctant to discuss the matter. He said, however, he had received a letter from O'Brien informing him the tournament director was recommending that he be fined the maximum amount possible for his conduct.

Bucs Defeated By Phils, 5-1

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies trotted out their one-two pitching punch, Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, to turn back the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 and earn their first victory of the spring training season.

Rookie Jim Owens joined Roberts and Simmons in holding the Pirates to five scattered hits. Simmons worked the first three innings and allowed two hits and no runs. Roberts took the middle three, also allowing only two hits and no runs.

Owens took over in the seventh and wound up the pitching chores by permitting the Pirates one hit and their only run, scored on a double by Ray Swartz, an infield out and an error by second baseman Teddie Kazanski.

Schmidt Aims For 2 Wins, $500 Purse

A special purse of $500 will be awarded to Hans Schmidt at the Fairgrounds Arena tonight — if he can do something that no rascaller has accomplished before in Lincoln.

To win the purse Schmidt must score wins over two rough foes on the same card. First Schmidt tangles with Bob Orton. If he gains a fall over Orton within 30 minutes, he is half way to the prize.

Then he must immediately mix with Joe Dusek. If he can win a fall over the tough Dusek within the next 30 minutes, the purse is his. If he doesn't, no purse.

Also on the card, starting at 8:30, is a double semifinal. The first match pits Mike DiBiase and Chest Bernard in a 2 of 3 falls, 45-minute time limit event.

Then Dick The Bruiser, a 250-pound former grid star in the pro ranks, will meet newcomer George Brocker, 245-pounder from Milwaukee, in a 2 of 3, 60-minute time limit affair.

1-Game Scoring Mark Is Set As NAIA Opens

By SKIPPER PATRICK
KANSAS CITY (AP) — The top-seeded Western Illinois Leathernecks of Macomb shelled Eastern New Mexico of Portales, 114-87 to set a one-game scoring record in the first round of the National Intercollegiate (NAIA) Basketball Tournament Monday night.

Winners of earlier games on the tourney's opening day program were Wisconsin State College of Eau Claire; Georgia Teachers of Statesboro, Ga.; Central State of Wilkesboro, Ohio; Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter, Minn.; Stephen F. Austin College of Nacogdoches, Tex.

A crowd of about 6,000 saw Monday night's games. The 201 game scoring total of the Western Illinois-Eastern New Mexico game topped the 194 mark by Hamline (102) and Mississippi Southern (92) in the 1953 tournament.

Eastern New Mexico contested the Illinois crew early in the game, but was behind 41-34 by halftime as all 10 of the Leathernecks helped with the scoring. Eight of the nine New Mexico players scored and the top man was Roy Franse with 24, one more than made by Western Illinois' Ron Nikcevic.

Western Illinois, third in the tourney last year and with all of that team back again, hit 44 of their 94 field shots for 46.8 per cent. Eastern New Mexico had a 35.1 percentage on 33 of 94 shots.

The Central State (Ohio) Marauders defeated Montana State of Bozeman 67-66 on Phillip Payne's field goal with 62 seconds left.

Rockhurst College's Hawks, of Kansas City, made easy work of Rider College, Trenton, N.J., 81-59, in the third game of the night session.

All 10 Rockhurst players, paced by guard Jack McCloskey's 22 points, aided in the scoring. Lawrence Pratt got 19 points for the New Jersey team. Rockhurst led 36-29 at the half and had a game shooting percentage of 34.7 compared to 32.4 per cent for Rider. Stephen F. Austin of Nacogdoches, Tex., defeated Coe College of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, 72-64 in the first of the 32 games of the 18th annual small college tournament conducted by the National Assn. of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Gustavus Adolphus of St. Peter,

Min., eliminated East Tennessee of Johnson City, 80-60 and Georgia Teachers downed Southeastern Oklahoma 81-78.

Payne scored 20 points for Central State, one of three all-Negro teams in the tournament. Eight of 10 Central State players figured in the scoring and Charles Jones had a strong helping with 19 points. Center Jim Kelly of Montana State was the individual high scorer with 22 points.

Classy Chester Webb of Georgia Teachers, Statesboro, Ga., hit two field goals in the last two minutes to give his team an uphill victory over Southeastern Oklahoma of Durant.

Webb, who came into the tourney with a 31.4 scoring average for the season, had a total of 27 points.

10-Round Nod To Smallwood

NEW YORK (AP) — Hardy (Bazooka) Smallwood of New York bared in, despite being practically out on his feet, to earn a 10-round decision over Ray Drake, also of New York, Monday night at St. Nicholas Arena. Both weighed 160 pounds.

It was a rough and tumble bout all the way and by the time the bell rang for the eighth round, neither could have knocked out a butterfly. Both the 22-year-old Smallwood and Drake shot everything they had trying for early knockouts.

Smallwood had all the better of it in the early going and scored the only knockdown of the fight. That came in the second round when he connected with an overhead right to the head while Drake was retreating. The latter took it flush and went down.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Investigators Monday dug up the bodies of another ex-husband and a daughter of a waitress who has already been charged with poisoning one former spouse.

Mrs. Rhonda Bell Martin, 49, was arrested at Mobile Friday on a charge of murdering her fourth husband, Claude Martin, who died in Montgomery five years ago. Martin's body, exhumed last week, showed traces of arsenic, said Asst. State Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion.

At the time of her arrest, Gallion also said authorities were investigating the deaths of seven other kinspeople of the 170-pound waitress.

Step Forward

LONDON (AP)—The campaign to abolish the death penalty for murder in Britain moved forward a step.

The House of Commons by a vote of 286-262 gave approval in principle to an anticapital punishment bill on second reading.

The bill still faces stiff tests through committee stages and the House of Lords before it can become law.

Damages Set For High Line Right Of Way

Damages of $44,169.60 to 12 more tracts of land near Lincoln that would be crossed by a high voltage line proposed by the Loup River Public Power District have been reported by a three-man appraisal board to the Lancaster County Court.

This is part of condemnation proceedings brought by the power district for its proposed 25-mile line around the outskirts of the city.

The 12 tracts involved in the appraisal are located west and east of Lincoln and are farmlands. Owners and assessed damages are:

William F. Mars, $5,764.50; Harold J. and Alice Pegler, $1,250; George L. and Lela E. Snyder, $7,900; Floyd L. and Betty Huenergarde, $1,229.50; Ray L. and Anna Olson and Anna G. Olson, two tracts, $1,622.50 and 9,712.50; William E. and Thelma M. MacDonald, $9,200; Henry C. and Emma Wittman, $873.60; Leland S. and Rose Waltz, $50; Continental National Bank, trustee, $3,107.50; William D. and Mabel L. Lamb, $2,500; Jennie D. Stewart and others, $558.50.

The assessed damages to the properties include tenants' interests, but does not include damages to fences and crops from construction or re-entry for maintenance.

The board, consisting of Gale W. Smith, a realtor, and Robert D. McNutt and Cecil F. Parker, both attorneys, heard testimony in the condemnation proceedings earlier.

Condemnation proceedings involving eight more tracts are still pending. Another appraisal board set damages for eight tracts previously at about $30,000.

Opposition to the 115,000-volt line around Lincoln has been raised and one injunction suit has been filed. The main objection is that the power line would halt residential development of the city to the east and south.

Onion Prices Skid

CHICAGO (INS)—The March onion delivery continued under heavy pressure Monday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange and sold at 23 cents a 50-pound sack, a record-low price for onion futures.

The price was 2 to 10 cents per 50-pound sack lower than Friday and as much as 38 cents lower than March 2. The decline in the delivery reflected future weakness in the cash market, which in turn reflected more than ample supplies.

'Nixon To Tell Future Plans At Convention'

WASHINGTON (INS)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall indicated Monday he doesn't expect Vice President Richard M. Nixon to make any announcement about his political future before the nominating convention.

Hall said Nixon feels President Eisenhower has been "exactly right" in the way he has handled questions about whether he wants Nixon as his running-mate.

The GOP chief made the comments at the White House after a conference with Eisenhower. He emphasized, however, that he had not discussed Nixon or the question of a vice-presidential candidate with the President.

Sees Nixon On Ticket

Hall repeated a previous declaration that he "assumes" Nixon will be the vice-presidential candidate.

"I would say as far as the organization is concerned Mr. Nixon rates very, very high."

He said his conference with the President dealt generally with campaign plans—"What we are doing, what we are planning and so forth."

SHOTGUN BLASTS KILLED MISSISSIPPI STATION ATTENDANT

Eyewitnesses Say White Man Killed Negro For Being 'Smart'

SUMNER, Miss. (INS) — Three eyewitnesses testified Monday in a court case that a white man, Elmer Kimbell, shot and killed Negro service station attendant Clinton Melton after accusing him of acting "smart."

The testimony came during the first day of Kimbell's trial for Melton's murder. District Attorney Roy Johnson indicated the state would seek the death penalty when he asked prospective jurors if they believed in capital punishment.

In opening statements, Kimbell's attorneys told the jury the defense would not deny that the 34-year-old defendant fired the fatal shots, but would seek to prove self-defense.

A white man and two Negroes detailed how Kimbell complained about what he called the 33-year attendant's "smart" attitude, threatened to kill him, then returned to the gas station with a shotgun and shot Melton three times.

Didn't Have Gun

Lee McGarrh, white owner of the Glendora, Miss., station where the shooting occurred Dec. 3, testified that Melton did not have a gun when he was killed.

McGarrh said Kimbell became angry at Melton because his car's gas tank was filled when he wanted "only two dollars worth."

The owner testified he reminded Kimbell that he had asked to have his tank filled up. He added that Kimbell said:

"I'm going home and get my gun and kill Melton. I'll see you later, too."

John Henry Wilson, a Glendora Negro, said Kimbell forced him to go along to the service station. He agreed with McGarrh that the defendant complained about a "smart Negro out there," and threatened to kill Melton. Wilson added:

"Please Don't ..."

"When I told him, 'please don't kill that boy,' he told me, 'go on, or I'll kill you.'"

George Woodson, another Glendora Negro, said he saw Kimbell get out of his car with a shotgun and shoot Melton three times.

Testimony began late in the afternoon when a jury was completed after hours of wrangling. Many prospective jurors were excused because they said they had "fixed opinions" in the case.

One man, Curtis Smith, was excused when he told the court: "I wouldn't convict any white man of killing a Negro."

Newsman covering the trial were forced to find places among the spectators in the tiny courtroom when Special Judge James C. McClure refused to make any special arrangements for seating them in the front of the room.

Judge McClure and Sheriff Harry Boggan also banned photographers from taking pictures in the courtroom and courthouse yard.

GOP Reports Receipts At $1,830,373

WASHINGTON (AP) — Receipts of $1,830,373 for the first two months of this election year were reported to the clerk of the House by the three big Republican campaign committees.

During the same period, the corresponding Democratic committees took in $141,588.

The reports were filed pursuant to the Corrupt Practices laws.

Republicans headed into the campaign period in much better financial shape than the Democrats. Expenditures of $772,161 left the GOP committees with a balance of about one million dollars on hand March 1. Democrats spent $263,250, which put their financial operations about $121,662 in the red.

"Salute to Eisenhower" dinners held throughout the nation in January accounted for a major share of the income reported by the GOP committees.

The Republican National Committee reported receipts of $765,533 for the two months, including $405,059 from the special dinner programs. Expenditures were $327,954, including $100,000 for the committee's payment for a closed-circuit telecast for the dinners.

Receipts reported by the Democratic National Committee were $136,758 and total expenditures $257,438.

Msgr. Schuster Sued For $29,000

Mrs. Mollie N. Estes of 1985 S. widow of James Estes, 65, who died Jan. 13, has filed a $29,859.19 damages suit in Lancaster District Court against the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George J. Schuster of 1602 Q.

The petition, filed by Mrs. Estes as administratrix of her husband's estate, alleged that Msgr. Schuster was the driver of the car which struck her husband while he was walking across R between 23rd and 24th last Christmas.

Mrs. Estes claimed her husband died three weeks later as a result of injuries received in the accident. Damages sought were for hospital and burial expenses, suffering and loss of wages.

Youth, 20, Tries Booze Buy; Fined

A 20-year-old youth, who attempted to conceal his true age with a photostatic copy of an altered birth certificate, was fined $50 in Lancaster County Court.

The youth, William C. Tomson of Omaha, pleaded guilty before Judge Herbert A. Ronin to a charge of attempting to procure alcoholic liquor by misrepresenting his age.

A state liquor agent became suspicious of the photostatic copy which was a "negative-type" copy rather than a "positive."

The youth, who had been charged with a similar offense previously, was given the maximum fine by the court.

Comstock Phones Changing In '56 To Dial System

The Nebraska Central Telephone Co. reported to the State Railway Commission Monday that its Comstock exchange will be converted to dial operation this year.

The company reported arrangements have been made through an Omaha investment house for $100,000 bond issue, to pay for converting the Comstock exchange this year and to pay off a $75,000 short term loan obtained from a New York Bank to finance conversion of the Shelton and Arcadia exchanges during the past two years. Conversion of the Arcadia Exchange to dial operation is scheduled for completion in 1957.

Equipment is being added to the Shelton exchange to make possible long-distance dialing, as soon as the Grand Island exchange is equipped for such service.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as 1/2 gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Heartbroken Husband Describes Blizzard Ordeal Fatal To Wife

MISSION, S.D. (AP)—“She wasn’t wearing overshoes or warm clothing but she insisted on going with me,” a heartbroken farmer sobbed as he told how his wife died of exposure during a howling blizzard.

Mrs. Ruth White, 30, wouldn’t let her husband, Cornelius walk for help alone after their car stalled near here. The husband, 32, was subject to fainting spells and Mrs. White feared he might collapse.

So, leaving their four children with five other persons in the car, the farmer and his wife set out alone. As they trudged through the heavy snow against strong wind, Mrs. White told her husband, “Keep praying, we’ll make it.”

But, when they were only three-fourths of a mile from the Adolph Buettner farm, Mrs. White was exhausted. “I’ll wait here, she gasped. Her husband went on alone; Mrs. White stayed behind and died.

White related the ordeal here in the village jail, where he, his children and the others, all relatives, are staying until snowplows can break through to the White farm five miles south of town. The road was still blocked by the 15-inch snowfall.

Drove To Valentine

The Whites had driven to Valentine, Neb., 20 miles south of here, Friday evening. Heavy, wet snow blew across the road as they started back about 8 p.m. At Crookston, Neb., they were joined by White’s cousin, Francis Cloud Man, his wife, and their two children, 3 and 1, and by the cousin’s father, Paul Cloud Man, 60.

The cousin’s car went into the ditch once but they pushed it out. It was ditched again, and this time they couldn’t free it. All piled into White’s car and continued on the trip. The windshield fogged, and the blowing snow made visibility very poor.

Eight miles south of this Rosebud Indian Reservation village, White’s 1941 car hit a snowbank and the distributor apparently became wet. White ran down the battery in a futile effort to start the engine.

Insisted On Going

“I told them all to stay in the car and I’d try to walk to get some help,” White recalled. “Ruth wanted to go with me. She’d been sickly all winter, but nevertheless she insisted on going with me.”

Looking at her four children, including 4-month-old Robin George, Mrs. White told her husband, “We’ve got to keep that baby from freezing.”

White took off one of his two jackets and told his wife to hold it to shield her from the wind. “We were pretty well played out and soaked through after we had gone about four miles,” White said. “but she said ‘keep praying, we’ll make it.’”

When his wife was unable to go further, White wrapped her in the jacket he had given and told her face away from the wind. He continued on alone to the Buettner farm.

Returned To Farm

Mrs. Buettner was alone so White returned to his wife. White took off his jacket and wrapped it around his wife’s legs. Then he returned to the Buettner farm and found Buettner had arrived home. However, the tractor wouldn’t start and the truck got stuck in the farmyard.

White again walked back to where he had left his wife. She was dead.

“She was on her back,” the husband wept. “Her clothing was blown full of snow. I wrapped her up again.”

White walked four miles into Mission. Deputy Sheriff James Didier arranged for a snowplow, a truck and a crew of three men to go out for Mrs. White’s body and the nine persons still marooned in the car.

OLD CROW ALMANAC

scene—now the whole wide
world is green.

OLD CROW WAS THERE

WASHINGTON, D. C., 1842. Secretary of State Daniel Webster is host to dinner guest John Quincy Adams. The former President can expect to enjoy a bit of Old Crow tonight, for Webster's residence is never without its demijohn of James Crow's bourbon.

GEORGETOWN, KENTUCKY, 1857. Vice President Breckinridge is honored at a barbecue. James Crow's celebrated whiskey is present on this and similar occasions when noted Kentuckians gather for a day of political oratory, roast sheep and mint juleps.

GREETINGS, LONDON STYLE
(Jack London, that is.)

Jack London, world-traveler, adventurer and author had one greeting that always drew the heartiest of welcomes—the words, “Old Crow!” Once, he called on neighbor Martin Eden, raised a bottle and shouted, “Skaal to the Old Crow—it’s best, Martin!” The mugs were filled and two old friends were once again well met.

Prognostics of the Weather

(From actual reports submitted by assorted Animal Watchers, Sky-Lookers and Bird-Gazers.)

ANIMALS When swine are restless and jerk up their heads, look for high winds. When sheep spring about a good deal, anticipate a change from fair weather to foul. . . . SKY When there is a piece of blue sky on a rainy morning big enough to make a Dutchman a pair of breeches, it will probably be fine in the afternoon. . . . BIRDS When the blue jay comes near the house and screams, foul weather is at hand. When Old Crow rises high in the drinking glass the evening will be fair and pleasant.

WISE SAYINGS
from the pen of
ROBERT P. LETCHER
Governor of Kentucky, 1840-1844

Herewith are several items of choice advice given by former Governor Letcher to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs:

“Keep quiet—hold your tongue and never open your mouth unless it is to swallow a ‘leettle’ drop of the Old Crow.”

“Don’t make yourself a . . . fool and deal out Old Crow to fellows who don’t know the difference . . .”

“If you have a rebellion in your abdominal regions Old Crow will put down the insurrection.”

“The Greatest Name in Bourbon”

A hearty laugh is occasionally an act of wisdom; it shakes the cobwebs out of a man’s brain and the hypochondria from his ribs.
Ben Franklin

POLITENESS IN RAILROAD CARS
(Adapted from the Merchant's Almanac, 1859)

1. If you cannot sleep, don't prevent others from doing so by whistling.
2. Never sit beside a person who is holding an ear trumpet. It may be clogged, forcing unusual exertions upon your lungs and larynx when you attempt conversation, thus also upsetting your fellow passengers.
3. Never sit in a seat, in warm weather, with a man weighing 244 pounds.

UNANIMOUS DECISION!
U. S. Supreme Court Ruling Favors Old Crow

A decision of great moment was handed down by the Supreme Court of the United States on March 18, 1918. The Court ruled by unanimous decision in favor of the original Old Crow and against its hundreds of imitators. Thus was preserved the reputation of the beverage that made Kentucky whiskey world-famous.

Stock Market

Continues Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—The rise of the stock market into new high ground continued strongly Monday with demand concentrated in less than a half dozen leading groups.

The rise wasn't extensive, but leaders were up $1 to around $3 at the best. Losers were frequent but small.

Brokers are of the opinion that the market is being carried up by "easy money" for president" enthusiasm in Wall Street plus continued excellent business reports, high earnings and the fact that a spreading realization that inflation is a danger of the future.

The railroads, oils, and copper were in demand Monday in the session. Later they took a back seat as the radio-televisions rushed ahead and the stock moved up from a mixed to a higher position. The many losses, scattered throughout the day, continued to be taken by a spreading realization that inflation is a danger of the future.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up $1.10. That is, the index was up 1.10 points. The third straight rise. Friday's market was up $2.00.

Both the industrial and railroad component of the average established new highs. The former was up $1.30 at $266.00 and the latter was up $1.10 at $142.60. Utilities gained 40 cents at $75.20.

There were 3,110,000 shares traded, the highest figure since the crash of 1929. The total volume of trading was 1,400,000 shares as compared with 1,400,000 Friday.

Supreme Court Puts Off Decision On Interracial Marriage Ban

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court Monday put off indefinitely any decision on whether states may ban interracial marriages.

An appeal which attacked Virginia's law against such marriages was put on the shelf with a notation that the record in the case is "devoid of a properly presented federal question."

The Virginia Supreme Court last Jan. 18 rejected a U. S. Supreme Court order calling on it to send the case back to a trial court in Portsmouth, Va., for additional evidence. The state court said there was no provision under its rules for such a step. At the same time, the state court said it was leaving intact its ruling that a Norfolk couple had violated the ban.

The case specifically involved the 1952 marriage of a Chinese seaman, Ham Say Naim, and Ruby E. Naim. They were married in Elizabeth City, N. C., and later returned to Norfolk. About a year later Mrs. Naim obtained an annulment of the marriage under Virginia's miscegenation law.

Naim appealed from the Virginia Supreme Court's action of last January, but the high tribunal declined to go into the matter further.

New Schools Ruling
The Supreme Court ruled out any delay in admitting qualified Negroes to graduate schools of tax-supported universities.

The court in effect put graduate schools—such as those in law and medicine—in a separate category not subject to the transition period permitted in the tribunal's decision of last year ordering desegregation of public schools.

The unanimous action Monday specifically overturned a ruling of the Florida Supreme Court denying a Negro, Virgil D. Hawkins, admission to the law school of the all-white University of Florida.

The court noted that it once had sent the case back to the Florida Supreme Court for reconsideration in the light of its public school decision.

"In doing so," the court wrote, "we did not imply that decrees involving graduate study present the problems of public elementary and secondary schools."

The court added that its "all deliberate speed" edict for ending segregation in public schools "had no application to a case involving a Negro applying for admission to a state law school."

Brief Opinion
The court's brief, unsigned opinion said:

"Since this case involves the admission of a Negro to a graduate professional school, there is no reason for delay. He is entitled to prompt admission under the rules and regulations applicable to other qualified candidates."

Hawkins has been trying to get into the law school for seven years.

University of Florida officials would not comment immediately on the court's decision.

Students Punished
TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—A White Citizens Council leader

was expelled and 24 other students punished less severely Monday by the University of Alabama for participation in mob action against Autherine Lucy, the school's first Negro student.

The university board of trustees announced the expulsion of Leonard R. Wilson, 20, Selma, Ala., sophomore; suspension of four students and lesser and undisclosed punishment against 20 others. Wilson also was accused of false charges against university officials.

Miss Lucy was the object of campus rioting from Feb. 3 through Feb. 6, when a mob threatened to kill her. The 26-year-old former school teacher, already a college graduate, was "permanently expelled" Feb. 29 for unproved charges that university authorities conspired in mob action against her.

She has asked the Federal Court to order her readmitted.
